CALLING LOCAL HISTORIANS

Central Florida Electric Cooperative needs your help. We would like to know more about the early history of electricity in our service area. Do you remember when electricity was brought to your community? What was it like to see the first light bulb in a home? Like many others, did your family sit around the radio listening to radio shows or the Grand Ole Opry? Share your story with us.

We would also appreciate any photos you may have from the early days of modern electricity or of Central Florida Electric Cooperative.

Send your stories or photos by email to ahuber@cfec.com, on the subject line, write "History." If sending by mail, address to CFEC, Attn: History, P.O. Box 9, Chiefland, FL 32644. If sending a picture, please include a self-addressed stamped envelope so that the picture can be returned.

Is Your Phone Number Up-To-Date At CFEC?

Our automated outage reporting system uses your telephone number to locate your account information when you report a power outage. If we do not have your correct phone number on file, including your area code, please let us know. Your report will be processed more efficiently and we will be able to respond more rapidly, if we have your correct number. To update your phone number, call 352-493-2511. Thank you.
